

INSTALLMENTS

Informal Information from UT Arlington Library

Vol. 3, Issue 1, Jan. 2015

UT Arlington Libraries continues the Textbook Project – a pilot program offering a selection of 60 1000 – and 2000-level textbooks for classes such as biology, chemistry, English, and more. A complete list of textbooks is located at: www.libguides.uta.edu/TextbookProject.

CUBA: Histories of the Present

A photographic exhibition by David LaFevor.

Nov. 19 – Jan. 30

Central Library—
Sixth Floor Parlor

The Price of Manifest Destiny: Maps Relating to Wars in the Southwest Borderlands, 1800-1866

Approximately 100 rare maps are on display, including John Robinson's Map of Mexico, Louisiana, and the Missouri Territory; the first map to name Pike's Peak; Stephen F. Austin's map of Texas' and John Disturnell's "treaty map" used in negotiations to end the U.S.-Mexico War in 1848.

Central Library—Special Collections

Exhibit is free and open to all

What's Happening

- ▶ Vet-zone Mentor Heather Scalf is available to assist current or prospective students who are military veterans. She is available Mondays between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. and Thursdays between 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. in 514 Central Library. She can be reached at scalf@uta.edu.
- ▶ Central Library – Room 214, is now a graduate study room! In addition to the main entrance of the Library, users will need to have their MavID to enter the room. The hours are the same as the Central Library.

- ▶ UTA Libraries are bringing academic support services to you. On the second floor of Central Library, you can find:
 - Free and fee-based tutoring services
 - Weekly study sessions
 - Academic advising
 - And more to come!
- ▶ UT Arlington Libraries will be closed in observance of Martin Luther King Day.

