CULTURAL COLLEGE ON, TEXAS

EXPLANATION

There follows here a view of North Texas Agricultural College. Surrealistic?—possibly; candid?—yes; yet real, true, and lifelike. It is an attempt to catch the pace and tempo of today . . . the undisputed heritage of youth. « «

THROUGH THE YEAR

Suppose you join me in a stroll through the buildings and across the campus of the North Texas Agricultural College. The book you are now holding can act as a guide for the present and can be used in the future as a reference to refresh your memory. It's quite a kaleidoscopic view, so be ready for a fast trip.

First, let's catch the faculty at their best, trying to convince the seniors that they know but very little, and the juniors that blissful ignorance is not so desirable.

We suddenly find ourselves surrounded by cadets. It's what is jokingly referred to as "Captain Dayton's War College."

Then follow more examples of manhood—our athletes, rightfully termed "men."

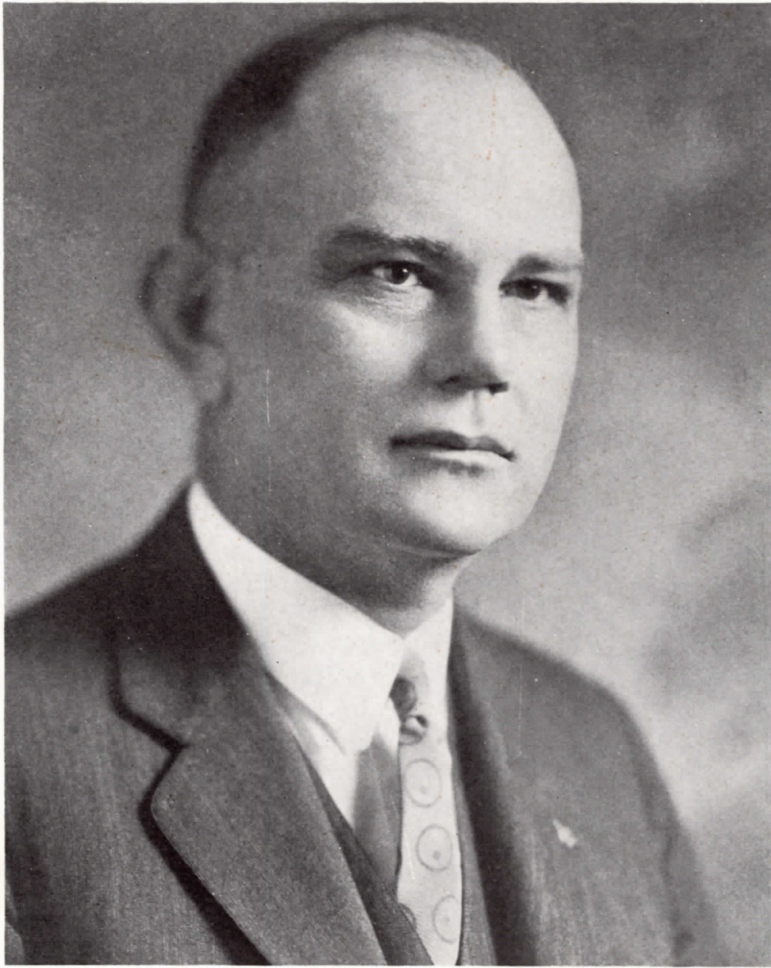

All work and no play is an old adage, hence we rely on the clubs to form the social background of the school and as a means of expressing school spirit.

Next, a surprise—the queen and beauties of N. T. A. C., which were selected by Ted Shawn.

Now comes the section you have been waiting for, the snapshots. Don't be surprised if you find a picture of yourself at a time when you thought you were alone . . . a third party was there, but was careful not to disturb you.

Well, there it is, all said and done,
I hope you like it—it was done in fun.

T. O. WALTON
President of A. & M. System

The student leaving college today will enter a social and economic world where uneasiness, uncertainty, and insecurity prevail. The values we have known have been largely discounted and the old order is either passing or is passing through a stage of change, readjustment, and reorganization. The new way is uncharted. New economic and social values have not been appraised, nor the order established. These factors have resulted in throwing the most thoughtful of our citizens into a state of confusion, but they constitute a challenge to clear thinking, and clear thinking is possible only for men and women who have trained and disciplined minds; therefore, it becomes imperative for young men and women to make all necessary sacrifices in order to provide themselves with opportunities for physical and mental growth and culture of the highest quality.

T. O. WALTON.

A MESSAGE FROM E. E. DAVIS

This Annual is dedicated to the College Campus with all its scenes and activities. A souvenir rich in scenic values, noble sentiments, and affectionate memories. A treasure of those charms from college days that make the reminiscing heart leap with joy in after years. May the bouyant, healthful hopes of youth accompany each boy and girl of the campus in 1937 through all the days of a happy, useful maturity.

THE N. T. A. C.

CAPTAIN JULIAN DAYTON

Today we can boast of the highest rating the War Department can give to a military college.

This rating the college owes to the untiring efforts of our P. M. S. & T., Captain Dayton. Captain Dayton's often repeated admonition to improve over each preceding year has inspired the cadet corps to have a better unit during the school year 1936-37 than ever before.

CADET CORPS

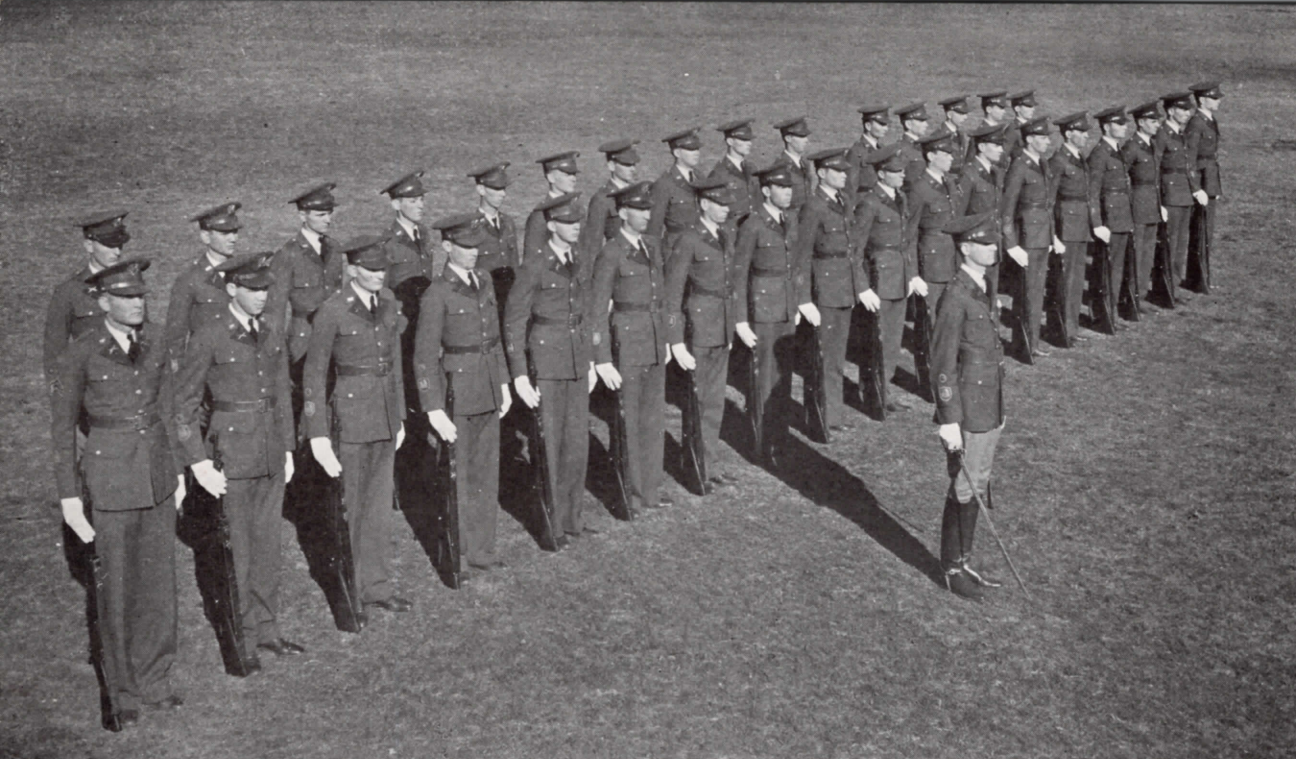

CADET COLONEL
WAYNE GLENN

Colonel Glenn's industry, enthusiasm, loyalty to both his subordinates and superiors, and his professional military knowledge have gone far towards making the North Texas Agricultural College R. O. T. C. Regiment the splendid unit that it is. Both my personal and official relations with him have proven to me that he is an individual of fine character who will make a success of any endeavor he undertakes.

CANDID OPINION

Had a good team and probably should have won more games than we did.—H. A. D. DUNSWORTH.

Had a good bunch of boys and willing to work . . . Two good coaches—couldn't help but win.

Had good spirit and swell fellows and I enjoyed playing under two good coaches.—RAYMOND POPE.

OF FOOTBALL SEASON

Pretty good season; enjoyed playing; had a good spirit. Everybody played because they liked it, not because of the glory.—BALLARD PEARSON.

Should have lost but one game. Started season slow, but ended fast. Enjoyed playing.—HAL and TED MORGAN.

Two mighty good coaches that we enjoyed playing for. Good boys who enjoyed playing football.—GENE SHAW.

Enjoyed a fairly good season . . . Probably could have done better on occasions than we did . . . During November had fast team . . . On whole, not quite the speed as year before—at least during November—were steadier in '35. Finished strong . . . Would indicate good team with morale and backbone for '37.—COACH HOLMES.

CONFERENCE

CARROLL COUNTS

CARROLL COUNTS, tackle, wt. 220, Captain of the Aggies has played his last game for N. T. A. C., but will remain long in our memory as one of the greatest tackles ever developed at N. T. A. C. Counts made two all-conference teams while playing for the Aggies. He played more than any other man on the entire squad. Good luck, "Junior."

« « » »

TOM FOWLER

TOM FOWLER, guard, was a steady, dependable man, very fast at interference and a man with a great blocking ability. He is a two-year letter man. His place will be very hard to fill. He was a consistent player and played in every game.

BILL STALLINGS

BILL STALLINGS, end, wt. 190, was a good, steady player and a good all-round end. He developed very slowly but came to the front the last two years. He was a bruising tackler whom the opposing backs stayed away from as much as possible. He has played under the Aggie banner for the last time, but he will be remembered long after he leaves N. T. A. C. He is a two-year letter man.

SELECTIONS

PHIL CAGE, quarterback, was an outstanding back-field man. He was a transfer from J. T. A. C., where he was not good enough for the team. He came to N. T. A. C. and proceeded to show that J. T. A. C. was wrong. He is a steady, dependable player and has played his last game for the Aggies, but we wish him luck wherever he intends to go.

PHIL CAGE

« « » »

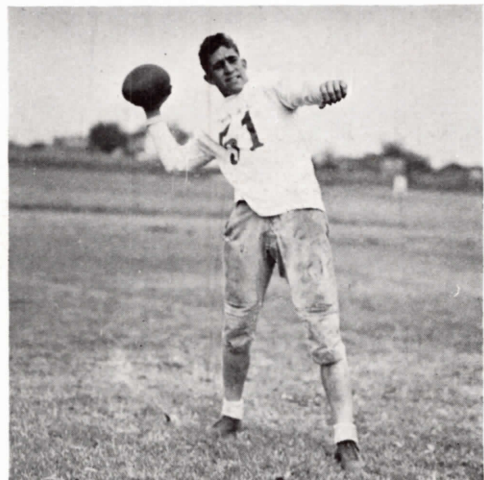

FRANK DELK, end, a player with his ups and downs, was brilliant. He was the strongest defensive end who has ever worn the white and blue. He was a deadly tackler and a good pass catcher. He is a three-letter man and a very good example of the true Aggie Gridman. Good luck, Frank.

FRANK DELK

JAMES WITT, back, wt. 155, is an outstanding back-field man who can pass, run, and kick with the best. He is a tricky man in the open field and has returned many punts for touchdowns. A two-year letterman, he may be back next year to continue his career under the old banner.

The '36 season was begun with every conference team gunning for the downfall of Klepto Holmes' Central Texas Conference Champions.

N. T. A. C., 0 — Schreiner, 6.

The Aggies started off very badly by losing the first game to Schreiner Institute at Kerrville by a close score of 6 - 0, the cadets at the Institute blocking a kick late in the game and recovering for a touchdown.

N. T. A. C., 20 — Paris Junior, 0.

Paris Junior College journeyed down to Arlington for our first home game. The Aggies trampled over the Dragons to produce a lopsided score.

N. T. A. C., 7 — Altus, 25.

The Aggies took their work much harder for the coming of the strong Altus Junior College team from Oklahoma. The Aggies, despite a strong defense, went down in defeat.

N. T. A. C., 0 — T. W. C., 6.

About this time T. W. C., a senior college in Fort Worth, sent its team over to administer another defeat to the Aggies. The Aggies displayed a strong defense but no offense whatever inside the 30 yard line.

N. T. A. C., 20 — Weatherford, 6.

Coach Holmes worked his men out the following week with a fast and furious offense which they displayed against Weatherford Junior College and won over the Coyotes.

N. T. A. C., 31 — Decatur, 0.

With the Aggies' offense improving all the time they trod over the Decatur Baptist College eleven. The Aggies made twenty first downs to the Indians' one.

N. T. A. C., 7 — Stephen F. Austin, 7.

The Aggies made a long trip to the heart of East Texas and tangled with the Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks from Nacogdoches, Texas. The Aggies were tied, but they displayed an offensive which kept them in the Lumberjacks' territory practically all the game. The Lumberjacks, a senior college team, later tied with two other teams for the championship of Texas Lone Star College Conference.

N. T. A. C., 20 — Hillsboro, 0.

The next week Hillsboro Eagles came to N. T. A. C. on their corps trip, but were disappointed, as the Aggies downed them.

N. T. A. C., 25 — J. T. A. C., 0.

The last game of the season came around. The climax of a successful football season always depends on the Thanksgiving game between John Tarleton and N. T. A. C. The Aggies were a little over-confident at the start of the game and J. T. A. C. came close to scoring several times during the first half, but N. T. A. C. snapped out of its shell and marched on to victory, and the third Conference title in as many years.

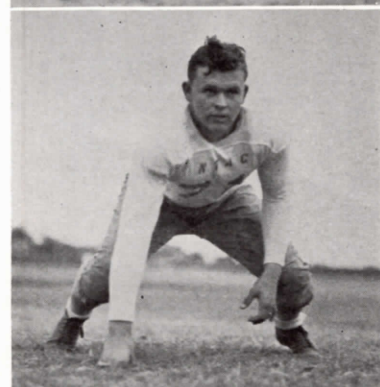

AGGIES MEET STONE WALL

The spring training season opened with nothing but green material to pick from. Gone is the nucleus of last year's championship team—Captain Corrol Counts, Gene Shaw, Henry Potthast, Tom Wilkerson, Tom Fowler, Bill Stallings, Frank Delk, Woodrow Stephenson, James Witt, Phil Cage, Stewart Camp. These men played in practically every game and will be sorely missed next year. The squad divided into two teams, playing an intra-squad game to end a most successful season.

The Aggies have won the Central Texas Junior College Conference Football crown for the past three years and as usual the rest of the conference will be out for the Aggie scalp next year, and so, to Coach Holmes and the Aggie Squad we wish a big and successful 1937-38 season.

BASKETBALL SEASON

RESUME OF THE SEASON

N. T. A. C. opened her season with a game with the T. C. U. Varsity. T. C. U. had but five men because their football season was not over; so they started slowly but finally hit their stride and won 31-25.

Next N. T. A. C. engaged J. T. A. C. in two pre-conference games, losing both games, the scores being 29-18 and 37-26.

Then came the conference schedule, N. T. A. C. first journeying to Ranger to win roughshod. Ranger lost 60-3.

For the next game Decatur came down to N. T. A. C. and absorbed their defeat 52-16.

When the Aggies went to Weatherford they scored another victory, 35-27.

When the Aggies went to Hillsboro they were defeated by a score of 33-31.

The next time the Aggies fought with J. T. A. C. the Plowboys gained a 45-43 victory in an additional period, the score being tied at the end of the second half.

The second game with Ranger was played at N. T. A. C., the Aggies winning over them again; the score 71-4.

The freshmen of T. C. U. went down in defeat when the Aggies trounced them by a score of 28-13.

After their courage had been bolstered up the Aggies traveled to Decatur and administered a defeat to their opponents, score 31-30.

Next the Aggies sent the Coyotes of Weatherford down in defeat, 30-26.

The T. C. U. Frosh, red with embarrassment, came to Arlington to be beaten again by the Aggies. The score was 34-30.

The Aggies met the Hillsboro boys again, this time winning 37-23.

Another game with the Plowboys, and the Aggies suffered a defeat; score 52-32.

The time for the annual game with the A. & M. Frosh rolled around, and our boys won, the score being 36-11. Thus ended a successful basketball season, the Aggies coming out in second place, the Plowboys being first.

MINOR SPORTS

'36 TENNIS

Butler, No. 1; Childs, No. 2; Snyder, No. 3; Lahey, No. 4, and Lincoln, No. 5, composed the nucleus of last year's tennis team. Childs and Butler placed second in doubles competition, losing to Tarleton, with Butler placing third in the singles play.

'37 TENNIS

The 1937 Conference Meet held, as usual, at N. T. A. C. was won jointly by N. T. A. C. and J. T. A. C., with Scott of John Tarleton winning from Justin Hickey in the singles play in five sets, 6-4, 4-6, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, and with the Hickey Brothers winning the doubles in straight sets over Scott and Hughes of J. T. A. C., 6-0, 6-1, 6-3.

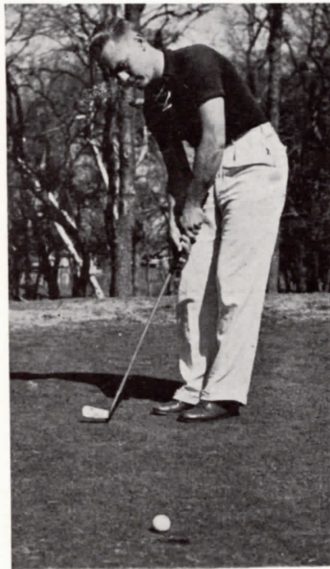

'37 lettermen were Justin and David Hickey, Charles Butler, and Warren Rece, the squad being reinforced by Scates, Hafele, Snyder, and Minter.

'36 GOLF

Bob Hafele, Lee Minter, Fred Gunn, and T. Howard comprised our '36 golf material. Hafele placed first in Central Texas Conference while Minter qualified for conference competition, later losing to the runner-up.

This year's team will, most probably, set a fast pace with the addition of David and Justin Hickey to the two lettermen, Hafele and Minter, who will again enter conference competition.

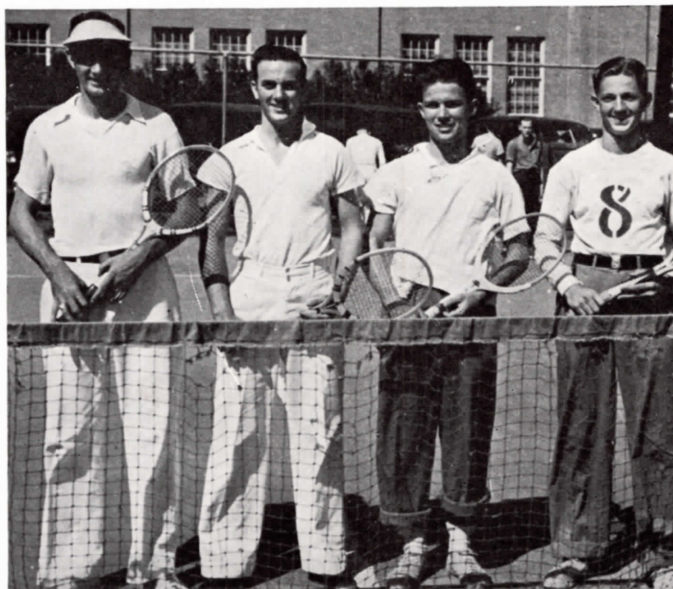

INTRAMURALS

Soft ball competition began the year's intramural sports. The Band, which entered as the favorite, was eliminated by a fighting B Company team, which was later eliminated in the finals by A Company. The basketball championship went to F Company which put out one of the best intramural basketball teams ever seen in action here.

New tennis stars arose in the persons of the Hickey Brothers from San Antonio, both going to the semi-finals where they flipped coins for winners. David won the toss, then played Rex Gray in the finals winning 6-0, 6-0. The doubles were won by the two Hickey brothers. The faculty suffered defeat at the hands of the champion A Company volley ball team, the first time in the history of the school that the faculty has been beaten by an intramural volley ball team. Horseshoe singles were won by Bob Hafele when he downed Ed Scates in the finals.

Ping Pong swept the campus, furnishing the largest array of players in an individual sport of the season. Barcus DuBose upset dopesters when he defeated both Charles Butler and Justin in a brilliant display of championship ping pong Intramural athletics furnish the needed recreation for studes who have neither the time, inclination nor ability to engage in inter-collegiate competition. This year's extensive outlay of such sports has been under the direct supervision of H. A. D. Dunsworth, Athletic Director.

The girls' athletic activities are divided into three seasons—fall, winter, and spring. The fall and spring activities include tennis, hiking, baseball, and folk dancing. The winter activities include basketball, volleyball, tennequoits, tap dancing, tumbling, and various other indoor games.

Games were played between a team from Dallas and a team composed of students from Fort Worth. Intramural doubles and singles competition in tennis was played among the members of the W. A. A. in the Fall.

In the theory classes the girls were exposed to a preponderance of information concerning the mechanisms of the human body, its diseases, its care, etc.

Several tournaments were held during the year. The volleyball tournament was held at night among Tarrant County, Dallas County, W. A. A., and the "New Students" teams, with Myra Adkins, Frances Copeland, Wrenella McAfee and Lorraine Albin, respectively, as captains. The W. A. A. team was victorious.

There were two tournaments for basketball. One was between the Freshmen and Seniors with Mattie Sue LeBlanc and Virginia Hyden as captains. The other was between Tarrant County and Dallas County with Etelka Schmidt and Sarah Williams as captains. The Freshmen and Tarrant County teams were victorious.

The baseball tournament will be between Freshmen and Senior teams.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This page is dedicated to that group of untiring workers whose services have greatly enhanced the value of the 1937 Junior Aggie. We wish to express our sincere appreciation, and, with them, we share the credit or the blame (just as you wish) for this book.

We are greatly indebted to Mr. B. C. Barnes for the success of the 1937 Junior Aggie. His competent efforts have made this yearbook possible.

J. P. Crow of Stafford Engraving Company has enthusiastically launched many unique ideas throughout the production of the book.

Mr. Armstrong's aid and interest in editing this book have been inspiring.

Bob Morris's determined efforts to avail us of quality and scope have made possible the consummation of our photographic motive.

Allan Vaughan and Abe Cohen, at the expense of an appreciable amount of shoe leather and much salesmanship, helped secure and prepare copy for some of the advertisements present in our last section.

More credit is due Valin Woodward than that which is evidenced in our humor section, since limited space would not allow complete publication. The work of Charles Butler and Luther Bean in furnishing ideas for cartoons is to be acknowledged.

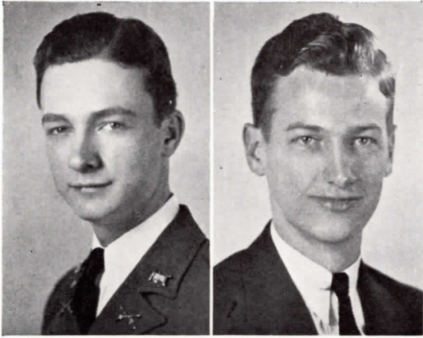

Charlotte Summerhill was responsible for the assembling and typing of copy for Junior and Senior and Club sections. Margie Wolfe aided in preparing the organization section.

James Austin edited the Military section.

Ed Scates worked throughout the year in laying out and composing the entire Sports section.

JUNIOR AGGIE

The Junior Aggie can claim for itself several new features this year. In the candid presentation of the Faculty you will find consolidated the fruits of many a worry of the editor and business manager. No less trying was the preparation of the various division pages which are composed of a predominance of our most unusual photographic shots.

OFFICERS CLUB

CAPTAIN JULIAN DAYTON
Adviser

The students of N. T. A. C. who are chosen as officers are responsible for maintaining the discipline, character, loyalty and, in turn, the excellent cadet corps that N. T. A. C. is recognized by the War Department as possessing. Each cadet officer becomes a member upon his acceptance of his commission as an officer.

The main purpose of the Club is that of creating more complete co-operation and loyalty and a closer friendship among the officers. Among the different social functions of the year was a formal dinner and dance, a formal Military Ball, and the year was closed with the long-awaited and most interesting event—the officers' final stag banquet.

PI MU

Pi Mu was first organized in 1927, under the leadership of Charles McDonald. The name is in keeping with other pre-medical organizations. Its membership is composed of students taking pre-medical work, and provides a common ground for social and educational interest.

This year the activities included a trip to Baylor Hospital and Medical School, a trip to the Southwest Clinic Exhibit, and a Spring formal.

Among the speakers who spoke at various meetings during the year were Dr. Frank Caman and Dr. J. T. Mills.

AVOLONTE CLUB

Taking their name from a French idiom, meaning "pleasure with direction," the Avolonte Club, organized in 1922, ranks as the oldest girl's social organization on the campus. "Happiness for All," a worthy motto, is emphasized by their encouragement of "reg'lar, all-round" girls, full of pep, friendly, and (yeah) studious.

During this school year Avolonte members have led in N. T. A. C. activities, enjoying one of their most active social seasons. Beginning with a tea for new co-eds, the calendar included a very lively initiation of pledges at Bachman's Dam in Dallas, a costume shoot-'em-up hill-billy dance in November, a Christmas party, "little-sister" week, formal initiation of mid-term co-eds in February, and, as a climax, their beautiful bubble dance held in the middle of April.

"Zangola," a gypsy word which means "light of heart" or "carefree," truly expresses the spirit of this social club. However, the members of this club desire to strengthen the social ties of the college as a whole in addition to promoting friendliness and good will within their own particular group.

The outstanding social events for this year have been the formal tea for the freshman girls, the initiation for the new members at Camp Morehead at Lake Worth, a beautiful Christmas party and buffet supper at Savilla McMurtray's home, and the formal dance on April 3. This dance, with decorations suggesting the deck of a ship, was a fitting climax to a successful social season.

LA DOCENA CLUB

Organized in 1927, the La Docena Club this year increased its membership to thirty-six, and entertained with a Mexican tea for freshmen girls, a week-end initiation at Lake Worth for new members, a kid dance in October, a buffet supper and Christmas tree preceding the annual Christmas Corps dance, and the Spring formal in March. The Spring formal was announced as a reopening of the Hollywood Hotel Crystal Ballroom and was decorated similar to last year's formal in black crepe paper and clear cellophane. A dinner on May 1 closed the Club's social season for the year.

F. F. A.

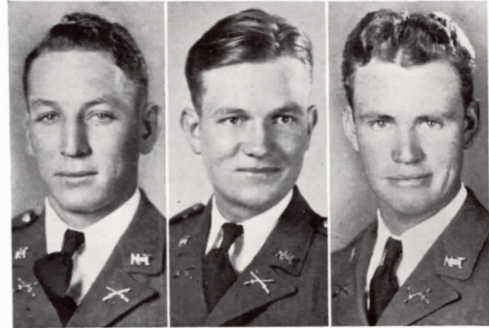

The N. T. A. C. Collegiate Chapter of Future Farmers of America was organized to meet a need of students in the Agricultural Department for creating closer fellowship, and keeping abreast of agricultural development. Any male person classified as an agricultural student is eligible for membership.

Randall Moore and L. I. Samuel represented the N. T. A. C. Chapter at the National F. F. A. Convention in Kansas City in October. Over ninety per cent of the members made talks on chapter programs this year. The N. T. A. C. Chapter was host to the Arlington Area F. F. A. Convention which was attended by more than 200 representatives from high school chapters. High lights of the year's social functions were Christmas party and a Future Farmers of America Banquet.

AGGIE BAR

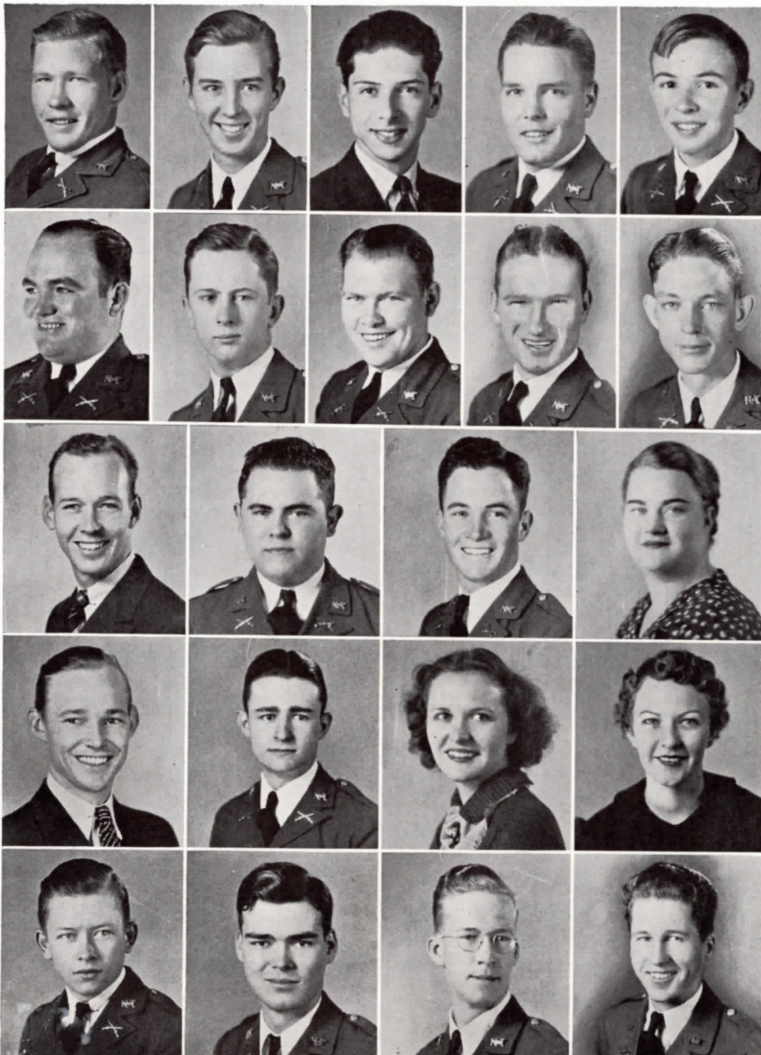

"The Aggie Bar" is the outgrowth of the Pre-Law Club of N. T. A. C. which was formed in 1934. This year the Club decided to replace the old name by a new one to fit the dignity of the organization. The purpose of the Aggie Bar is to promote more cordial relations among the pre-law students of N. T. A. C. and to serve to enlighten them upon current issues which are of interest to potential lawyers. Discussions by the members and dissertations by certain outstanding members of the faculty composed the major portion of the club programs. By adding the spice of socials the club developed a combination for which only one word will suffice—success.

SANS SOUCI CLUB

It may be explained that "Sans Souci" is a French expression meaning "without a care." The club was organized as a social body for the promotion of friendship among its members and with other students; this purpose having been well carried out.

The club's first social function was the Sans Souci Tea in October. The new pledges were initiated into the club at a Lake Worth encampment October 17. On December 12 a hill-billy dance was given by the club. The Christmas party given by Miss Ramsey at her home on December 19 was extremely successful. The finale of the season's entertainment was the spring formal, "A Heavenly Affair" dance held May 1, 1937.

The Engineering Society has been very active this school year. Some of the leading engineers of the Southwest have been selected as speakers for the meetings. The different branches of engineering that have been represented by these speakers are electric, aeronautical, radio, petroleum, civil, mechanical, and chemical. The society gave the annual dance on March 25. Later in the spring the society held its annual banquet, which was a stag affair with some of the leading engineers of Texas and Oklahoma as the guests.

THE N. T. A. C. CONCERT ORCHESTRA

EUGENE ADAMS, Director

The N. T. A. C. Concert Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Eugene Adams, head of the Violin Department, has had a most successful year. The plan of the orchestra includes the study of standard orchestral scores of classical grade as well as modern arrangements of the light opera. Orchestral-accompanying experience has been gained by the group in working with choruses in oratorio, light opera, as well as soloists presented on their own programs. The orchestra gave special performances at the Coronation of the Queen, assembly periods, near-by schools, and on tour.

Here I am in a big way, this is my pet aversion. If you're in here it's not my fault, you just shouldn't have been seen around. If you're in here more than once, it was because you were over developed. Pretty much of a double exposure if you were caught twice. (It's not who you are; it's what you were doing). Don't tell me I don't get around. Didn't you see how I plastered your faculty, and, notice, I went down on the farm, managed to stay through one of your dances, waited for the coronation to be over, nearly ruined my lens trying to get a record of club initiations, and climbed lamp poles and crawled under cars in the scorching sun to give you the Centennial record.—Buddy, I was there!

OUR HOTTEST FLAMES

Georgia experienced her final and best run this year, staying out in front all the way.

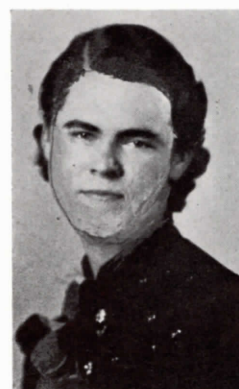

Jacquelyne, the seductive type and quite a "lady of affairs," went to school here for a while.

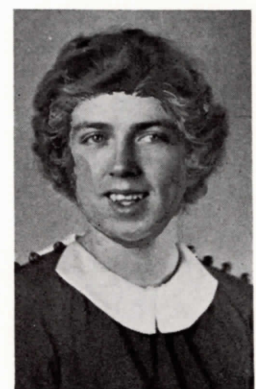

Little Miss Grimmer was more of a "highty tighty" sort uv' gal, being the pride and joy of several of the societies.

Harriet became established as being of the sloe-eyed, "swing it" species, expelling a "keep-away-from-me" air.

Mrs. Kaufman, the college widow, was the proud possessor of more curves than a road on Pike's Peak.

Miss Louise Brown, that husky-voiced southern lass with the graceful walk, made a multiplicity of hearts flutter during a most eventful year.

JOHN DOE SEEN STUDYING IN LIBRARY

THE STUDENTS MUST DECIDE

"Does This Paper Have Reader Interest?"
(Editorial)

By B. O. SOPE

Our inquiring reporter has queried several prominent studes upon this point and this is the result. Upan Adams—no. Lotta Tripe—no! Hymie Sqptkf—no! The above answers indicate unquestionably that either we're slipping or that an organized minority is operating to undermine our journalistic edifice. It is the firm belief of the editorial staff that only the latter could be possible. However, since our editorial policy has always been the straightforward presentation of facts, we will continue to strive undaunted to our established goal.

BUSINESS FLASHES

Every indication points to the fact that the undertaking business is dead. The coal industry looks black. The African outlook is dark. The paper industry needs "reaming" out. The inner-tube industry is suffering inflation. The cotton trade is picking up; there have been a preponderance of strikes in match factories; the elevator industry is fluctuating; the submarine industry is sinking; the musical field is experiencing a definite "swing"; aviation stock has gone sky-high; the railroad business seems to be sidetracked; card-table production has folded up; quarrying stock has struck rock-bottom.

INTREPID REPORTER SCOOPS SCHOOL

The most startling event of the year was revealed uncensored to the public at large. Surrounded by a group of awed curiosity seekers, John A. Doe, 18, weight 164 ringside, of Moses Valley, sat, to all outward appearances, in perfect composure, in spite of his unique action. In a special interview, Doe recounted his harrowing experiences with usual modesty: "Shucks, it weren't nothin' a'tall—I owe my success to my constant use of 'Ducky Snipes.'" This is truly indicative of a forward step toward a new era of campus activities. More power to you, Doe.

CO-ED CORRESPONDENCE

Dear Angelina,

I've been here at N T A C almost a month now and its all so utterly thrilling I don't know where to start to tell you about it and it was all so new and different that I almost made several mistakes before I learned my way around such as the very first day I was here they tried to register me for some things they call courses but I remembered how my uncle Silas was always very careful not to let anyone register his fingerprints and I thought maybe this was something like what he was afraid of so I said no I didn't think I wanted to but they said almost everyone did and it was just something you had to do like being vaccinated or something like that if you want to go to college so finally I said I would and they gave me a book with a lot of numbers and funny names in it and said I should pick out some of them so I played eeny meeny miny mo until they told me to stop and then I stood in line for the longest time and didn't seem to be going anywhere so finally I saw the most adorable boy come to the end of the line so I dropped out and went back to get next to him in line and we were in a room with just MORE BOOKS so I asked him what all the books were for and he said it was to make you feel so glad you didn't have to read them and then I said does anyone ever read books like that and he said he supposed the men who printed them almost had to read them but that was just part of their job and he was sure no one else ever did and then I said they'd certainly keep a lot of dust off all those long shelves and then we started to talk about more interesting things and in no time at all the whole long line was gone and almost all the school is carried on in one building called the Shorthorn but there are some other buildings around here too although I've never bothered to find out what is inside them because I do so want to appear collegiate and that means that I must stick strictly to business and not go poking around in empty buildings away from the rest of the students but it does seem silly to have the Shorthorn so small and so many of the useless buildings so large but I guess maybe that's so there'll be room for expansion but it's a shame because as it is the Shorthorn is so crowded some of the boys have to let the girls sit in their laps and then have to leave just when we're getting acquainted and sometimes they have to spend a whole hour in one of those other buildings but not many of them do and the best educated ones always manage to find some place in the Shorthorn where they can stay all day . . . and one day I saw a boy who was almost good-looking and I felt sorry for him because he had to wear faded gray pants when all the others have bright yellow ones and he had his legs all wrapped up in tight leather bandages probably to cure bowlegs or something and he had something at his side that rattled and bumped his legs when he walked like the log we used to keep the cow from running way down on the farm so I said to him what's that and he pulled out a knife as long as your arm and I didn't know whether to run or not but he had a kind face so I asked him what he did with it and he said he had to sharpen a pencil every week or so and when I asked him how he wore it down so fast just going to college he said he didn't do it all himself he said he loaned it to everyone in the guard house who could write and they wore it down drawing pictures while they telephoned and then I said why do you carry it around with you all the time and he said well I use it in the mess hall to reach for butter and spread it on soda crackers . . .

and yesterday I heard that sometimes they have meetings called classes so another girl and I decided to go and see just what they are like so we went and there were some other people there but they must have been strangers because I never saw them before and up in front was a fellow they called a doctor though I don't see why because a doctor is supposed to make you well and this one made me sick because all he did was talk and make funny marks on the blackboard and didn't even tell jokes or tap-dance so finally when I was thinking what a terribly punk show it was and was thinking of walking out I guess someone else must have had the same idea because they gave him an awful loud gong and he quit and I was going to ask for my money back when I remember that it was just an amateur performance anyway and I wouldn't want to hurt anyone's feelings even if he wasn't any good but next time I'm going to look around before I go in and if he can't find someone who can act like the Marx Bros. I'm not going to waste any precious time in such senseless foolishness as classes . . .

and I've had a grand time writing and I only wish you could be here to enjoy it too because I've found fifty fellows who are just my type and I know one who is just your type to but maybe next year you'll decide to get an education and if you do I hope you'll be sure to come to N T A C.

CANDID COMMENT

Say, did you ever notice that more or less entertaining creature that habitates your classroom, or does he bother you—we hope not. He's really quite a nice chap, but what I can't understand is what motivates his clever little habit of slyly awakening the unsuspecting stude with one of his bombastic questions, turning a smooth dream into a garish nightmare—it's a capital offense.

Now, these so-called humans come in a variety of styles. A most predominating creation is found in that person who expostulates hours on end and still never disturbs the assignment. Maybe we shouldn't be hypocritical in a consideration of this type; his college days were most probably void of any chance to so freely express his and OTHERS' opinions. An antidote for such a dose of bull can be found in the soothing arms of Morpheus. Not to be overlooked in our treatise is that ever-present effervescent ambulator who insists on cavorting incessantly before his enthusiastic class, occasionally augmenting his performance with a resurrected bit of ill-named humor. We might tolerate such entertainment if it were not for certain infernally lengthy assignments that are invariably imposed upon his innocent audience.

Don't get us wrong, we're not complaining. Why, these fellows have endeared themselves in many other ways to us. I remember one time a prof gave the whole class an examination and don't think I'm kidding when I assert that once I was actually given 6 exams, a lengthy theme, and some few assignments during the course of only 6 weeks. Oh, they're an accommodating group. All this we received without having to ask for it.

Realizing that this prolonged discourse is quite boring, I'll decline further extension and close with the admonition that you who are yet to endure the domination of this species, need only to disregard all his advices, sleep in his class, and otherwise work to completely ignore him in order to complete your college career pronto, sometimes more quickly than you may desire and sometimes being able to avoid the horrid necessity of having to go through the needless ceremony of graduation. It's a hard life, but it can be done.
