- We have selected works primarily for their literary significance.
- We have given authors by offering extensive readings of their works.
- We have provided clear, concise, and informative introductions and biographical notes that are appropriate for students and scholars.
- We have included unabridged texts and appendices through 2023.
- We have preserved author bibliographies that are selective and current.

The contents and works in the anthology follow a generally chronological order. In deciding on a particular text from among the various editions available for selection, we have chosen, whenever possible, that edition most respected by modern scholars. The one reproduced is believed to be the most accurate of each author. We have made every attempt to correct obvious errors and is not the reader's conscience. An editorial selection of one paragraph or more is indicated by an asterisk (*). It consists of a paragraph or more are indicated by a crossed-through chapter.

New to the Eighth Edition

Basing on the anthology's first foundation, we were able to accommodate the needs of students for additional contents in the document.

- We have updated and revised the introductions to each period.
- We have included new biographies and selections for significant authors, including Margaret Fuller, Louisa May Alcott, and Walt Whitman.
